Arratibel Arrondo, Josean (Eusko Jauraritza. Antso jakituna, 35. 20010 Donostia): Euskadiko Osasun Antolamenduari buruzko 8/1997 Legea: osasun gastua eta Ongizate Estatuaren egonkortasuna (Law 8/1997 on Public Health Organization in the Basque Country: sanitary expenses and the stability of the Welfare State) (Orig. eu) In: Eleria. 3, 5-22
The increase in the sanitary expenses has recently been provoking grave concern within the Administration of the State as well as in that of all the Autonomous Communities. This has a direct incidence in the current model of Welfare State. In opinion of large part of the doctrine and jurisprudence, we are before a symptom of the end of the traditional concept of the Welfare State. In this context, the Basque Autonomous Community has published Law 8/1997 on Public Health Organization in the Basque Country. It is therefore indispensable to carry out an analysis of this law to know which has been legal response of the Basque Autonomous Community.

Bakaikoa Azurmendi, Baleren (Euskal Herriko Unibertsitatea. Zuzenbide Fakultatea. Manuel de Lardizabal, 2. 20009 Donostia): Inbertsioetarako zerga pizgarriak EAEn (Incitement taxes for investment in the Basque Country). (Orig. eu). In: Eleria. 3, 23-30

The evolution of Basque economy is really positive, although the last months may have shown some signs of deceleration. However, the current employment situation and the perspectives for the future are certainly not optimistic. Besides, the Statutory Diputations are going to issue their own income tax and everything indicates that it will be more regressive than the current model. To conclude, it is convenient to remember that the current Economic Agreement expires within three years, and that it will therefore be necessary to begin to think about its future contents.

Karrera Egialde, Mikel (Euskal Herriko Unibertsitatea. Zuzenbide Fakultatea. Manuel de Lardizabal, 2. 20009 Donostia): Landa errendamenduei buruzko eraentzaren azken erreforma Espainian. Lege 19/1995, uztailaren 4koa, Nekazaritza Ustiategiak Modernizatzeari buruzkoa (The last spanish reform of the legal regime for rustic leasing. Law 19/1995, dated 4th July, of Modernization of Agrarian Developments). (Orig. eu). In: Eleria. 3, 31-40
The legal regime for rustic leasing has been radically modified by the Law of Modernisation of Agrarian Developments, which has mainly established new procedures to determine the duration, as well as redefining the concept of the farming professional. This directly affects the very nucleus of the legal system as refers to rustic leasing, making it more similar to the liberal principles already reflected in the legislation on urban leases. Spain therefore now has the most flexible legislation on rustic leasing in the whole of Europe.

Linguistic Law

Arzoz Santisteban, Xabier (Euskal Herriko Unibertsitatea. Gizarte eta Komunikazio Zientzien Fakultatea. Sarriena auzoa. 40940 Leioa): Nafarroako eta Euskadiko komunitate politikoaren izen ofizialak: euskal izenari buruzko eskumenaz iruzkinak (The official names of the political communities of Navarre and the Basque Country: commentaries of the competence about the Basque names) (Orig. eu) In: Eleria. 3, 41-50

A 1996 decision of the Royal Academy of the Basque Language established that the Basque names of the political communities of Navarre and of that constituted by Álava, Guipúzcoa and Vizcaya are to be "Nafarroako Foru Erkidegoa" and "Euskal Autonomia Erkidegoa", respectively. However, such a decision can not affect what is contained in the Statute of Autonomy of the Basque Country, which determines that the denomination of the autonomous community will be "Euskadi" and "País Vasco" in Castilian, and "Euskadi" and "Euskal Herria" in Basque. This reveals an aspect which has been neglected in the linguistic normalisation: that of the legal value of the terms used in the Basque versions of legal texts.

Peillen, Txomin (5 Chemin d'Arantzeta. 64100 Baiona): Euskararen lekua Iparraldeko antolakuntza eta legeetan (The place of the Basque Language in the organization and laws of the Continental Basque Country) (Orig. eu) In: Eleria. 3, 51-60
In this work I have tried to reflect the linguistic policy in France, which, although it has admitted a certain degree of bilingualism in schools over the current century, this was forbidden in the seventies. An analysis is made of what decrees, regulations, etc. were promulgated since the publication of the Deixonne Law, and how the absence of a linguistic officialdom makes it impossible to use the Basque language in town halls, police, justice and other services.

Sarasola Gorriti, Silvia (Euskal Herriko Unibertsitatea. Zuzenbide Fakultatea. Manuel de Lardizabal, 2. 20009 Donostia): Telebista, gaurkotasan osoko zerbitzua (Television, a full present service) (Orig. eu). In: Eleria. 3, 75-82

Until very recently, television has constituted one of the most meaningful public services. This is so; not only because of its expansion in current society, but also because of its importance in the process of consolidation of democracy, its characterisation as a public service has been a unquestionable reality. Due to the plurality of types of television nowadays, such a characterisation has been reduced to reflect reality. In this sense, the following lines are but a humble reflection to enliven the discussion on what the television of the future is to be like. We should all demand that society participates in the process of modification of the existing legal regime for television.
