Rapporteurs of the Congress

Columns

Silguero Estagnán, Joaquín (Prozedura Zuzenbideko irakaslea. Euskal Herriko Unibertsitatea. Manuel de Lardizabal, 4. 20018 Donostia): Interes notarialeko alderdiak Zibil Prozedurako Lege berrian (Problems of interest for notaries in the new civil procedural law) (Orig. eu). In: Eleria. 7, 65-70.

The entry into force of the new civil procedural law represents an attempt to achieve the efficiency of the civil judicial tutelage, which allows for its study from very diverse perspectives. As refers to Notaries, aspects such as the full proving value of public documents, the collection of fees or civil responsibility for the lack of payment thereof, all have a certain interest in their activities within the development of legal traffic. The content of the present work is on such notarial problems, and it extracts the consequences that may be derived from the new procedural regulation.

Sagasti Aurrekoetxea, Josu J. (Merkataritza Zuzenbidean doktorea. Euskal Herriko Unibertsitatea. Agirre lehendakariaren etorbidea, 83. 48015 Bilbo): Euskal Herriko Kooperatiben Lege berria (The new Law on Co-operatives in the Basque Country). (Orig. eu). In: Eleria. 7, 71-77.

By means of Law 1/2000, dated 29th June, the Basque Autonomous Community has partially reformed Law 4/1993 on Co-operatives in the Basque Country. This is, among other reasons, to accommodate autonomous regulation to what had already been established in the current Spanish law 27/1999, dated 16th July, on Co-operatives. This was also done in order to regulate the concepts related to the suspension and extinction of the contract between working associates that is anticipated in the new labour norms (for technical, economic, organisational, production or force majeure causes). The most substantial changes have been taken place so far reference to the minimum social capital, the links of the associates to the Co-operative, the "subordinate financial contributions" and "special participations" and to the new concept of co-operative corporate group.
