In: Rev. int. estud. vascos. 57, 1, 8-38

Abstract: Some restaurants in Gipuzkoa stand in outstanding locations where the surrounding and nature provide diners with the chance to enjoy other cultural or historical aspects, gardens, landscapes or the environment. The vegetable gardens, flower gardens and landscapes around seven Gipuzkoa restaurants are analysed in alphabetical order: Akelarre (Donostia-San Sebastián), Alameda (Hondarribia), Bedua (Zumaia), Berasategui (Lasarte-Oria), Fagollaga (Hernani), Lasa (Bergara) and Mugaritz (Errenteria).

Key Words: Garden. Kitchen-Garden. Landscape. Restaurant. Cook. Chef. Cooking. Gipuzkoa.

In: Rev. int. estud. vascos. 57, 1, 40-60

This article analyses the consensus set up for dominance of ideologies and the consequences of its consolidation. The economic downturn over the last few years demonstrates that the main criteria governing current economic and political actions is guided by Neoliberalism and consolidating these criteria makes it seem very difficult to be able to constitute a feasible alternative.

Key Words: Ideologies. Consensus. Dominance. Economic downturn. Solutions.

This work combines two investigations: the first aims to reassess the volume of production from Bizkaia forges in the early 17th century and questions the crisis in this sector. The second analyses how, by controlling this production, some Basque nobles and their allies managed to manipulate the Spanish monarchy's foreign policy to suit their own interests.

Key Words: War. Iron production. Military networks. Pressure group. Bizkaia. Gipuzkoa. 16th century. 17th century.

Ruiz Astiz, Javier (Archivo del Senado. Plaza de la Marina Española, 8. 28071 Madrid): "Haciendo algaradas y músicas": rondas nocturnas y carnavales en la Navarra moderna ("Making raids and musics": nocturnal strolls and carnivals in Early Modern Navarre) (Orig. es)

During the modern centuries, collective violence impregnated all the spheres of Navarrese society. However, within the different typologies of altercations that took place, historiography has not paid any attention to the so-called "rondas nocturnas" (night rounds) and to the disturbances that took place during carnival festivities. This article pretends to centre its attention on these incidents, while trying to unveil their connections as well as their specificities.

Key Words: Nocturnal rounds. Carnivals. Public disorder. Collective violence. Kingdom of Navarre. Modern age.

Sierra Hernando, Carlos H. (Keele University. Research Institute for Live Course Studies. Staffordshire ST5 5 BG): Euskal Herria y Extremo Oriente. Interacciones vasco-japonesas en la modernidad (Euskal Herria and the Far East. Basque-Japanese interaction in the modern age) (Orig. es)

In: Rev. int. estud. vascos. 57, 1, 128-173

The main aim of this work is to systematically compile and prepare a discursive analysis on the archetypal figures of speech structuring the Basque imaginary concerning Japan in the modern age, by either digging into modern aspects of intercultural penetration or analysing the historical mark left by Basque presence on the Japanese Archipelago.

Key Words: Euskal Herria. Japan. Basque language. Kawaii culture. Japonism. Tradition.
