

Acknowledgments

As indicated in the preface, this book is the fruit of my stay as Basque Visiting Fellow at Oxford University made possible by a scholarship from Eusko Ikaskuntza and the Basque Government. It was an honour to have had such an opportunity and, first and foremost, I would like to express my heartfelt thanks for the entire experience. I should also express my gratitude to Eusko Ikaskuntza for having included this volume in the Cuadernos collection of the prestigious International Journal on Basque Studies (Revista Internacional de los Estudios Vascos, RIEV).

I will be always grateful to Sir Marrack Goulding, the then warden of St Antony's College, who welcomed me with open arms to Oxford. Jeremy McClancy, Professor of Anthropology at Oxford Brookes University and collaborator of Eusko Ikaskuntza, gave me constant support and made an important contribution to the success of my stay as did Professor Ian Mclean, Professor at All Souls College, and his wife Pauline. The Freizinger family (Phil, Susan, Peter, Liz and Ella) were our obliging liaison between the University and the people of Oxford.

During my time at the European Studies Centre, the director, Professor Timothy Garton Ash, provided me with invaluable assistance at all times, especially during the seminar which was organized with the unfailing help of Uli Parkinson. To all of them and to all the colleagues with whom I shared my stay at the European Studies Centre, number 70 Woodstock Road, I would like to express my sincere gratitude for their assistance and support.

Finally, I wish to thank the contributors who have worked with me so altruistically and who, apart from writing their articles, made the effort to participate in the seminars at Oxford on the 11th March 2006 and the one in San Sebastian on the 7th and 8th November 2008. The seminar at Oxford included the presence and participation of the then Minister for Education and Universities of the Basque Country, Mr. José Antonio Campos, and the Vice-minister, Ibone Amezaga. The seminar in San Sebastián formed part of the research project The Spanish Monarchy of the Ancient Regime (La Monarquía Española del Antiguo Régimen y sus integrantes: formas de pertenencia y de vinculación jurídico-política en los casos de Navarra, Aragón y Vizcaya, MEC, SEJ2005-04672/JURI). The project is continuing under the name of Derecho y política en la Corona de Aragón, Navarra y territorios vascos (siglos XVI-XVIII) DER2008-06370-C03-01.

Jon ARRIETA

*Basque Visiting Fellow
St. Antony's College
(2005-2006 Academic Year)*