Dear Mr. de Yrujo:

We have appreciated your sending us the various clippings in tribute to the 50th anniversary of Sabino de Arana-Goiri. I am sorry that we could not consider a story on him in TIME. We do not usually report on individuals of the past unless they have a particularly relevant bearing on the news of today. It is understandable that Sabino de Arana-Goiri is revered by the Basques. We know of their aspirations for eventual freedom, but since they have not figured importantly in the headline news, we have not made mention of them in recent months. Perhaps we'll have an opportunity to do a major piece on the subject in the future. Meanwhile, many thanks for apprising us of the information you sent.

Cordially yours,

Matilda Kazda
